Disclaimer for near real-time, historical and forecasted water level and streamflow information

Please Read Before Proceeding:

Users should use the information on this website with caution and do so at their own risk. The Ottawa River Regulation Planning Board (Planning Board) as well as its partners such as Evulgen and its affiliated companies accept no liability for the accuracy, availability, suitability, reliability, completeness or timeliness of the data or graphical depictions rendered from the data. The hydrometric data presented on this website is received continuously by telemetric systems from hydrometric gauging stations operated by its member agencies and its partners. The data are preliminary and have been transmitted automatically with limited verification and review for quality assurance. Subsequent quality assurance and verification procedures may result in differences between what is currently displayed and what will become the official record of the agencies holding the data.

The forecasts of water levels and flows include an additional degree of uncertainty given that they are based on the anticipated effect of water regulation at the principal reservoirs and on hydrological forecasting of natural inflows for a given weather forecast. Absolute accuracy of weather forecasts cannot be guaranteed. In addition, there are inherent uncertainties in the hydrologic models used to estimate inflows as well as in the methods used to measure water levels and flows at various locations.

The water levels forecasts do not account for local variations due to wind and wave effects.

It is the responsibility of all persons who use this site to independently confirm the accuracy of the data, information, or results obtained through its use.
